Montana is home to many of the most outstanding seedstock herds in the United States. The intent of the Montana Sheep Directory is to provide potential buyers with an all-breed directory of Montana's finest sheep and a reference to related service providers.

The Directory was developed by the Montana Department of Agriculture in cooperation with the Montana Wool Growers Association. To assist Montana producers in expanding existing markets and reaching new markets, the Montana Sheep Directory is distributed at trade shows, fairs, stock shows, and other promotional events throughout Montana, the United States, and other countries.

The primary goal of the Department of Agriculture's Marketing Program is to assist Montanans in the development and trade of our state's agricultural commodities and value-added products. Program objectives are developed using producer input to ensure that projects are beneficial to the industry.

This publication is a listing of Montana sheep producers and related service providers. The listing does not constitute an endorsement by the Montana Department of Agriculture. An independent check is recommended prior to any business arrangement considered.

This publication should not be considered as a complete listing of Montana sheep producers or service providers, since only those responding and agreeing to publication are included.

Unlisted firms who wish to be included in any future edition of this publication should contact the Agriculture Marketing and Business Development Bureau of the Montana Department of Agriculture.

Montana Wool Growers Association

The Montana Wool Growers Association (MWGA) was formed in January of 1883 at a meeting in Fort Benton. Montana territorial sheep producers saw a need for an organization to represent the wool and lamb business that was starting to flourish in the territory. The sheep men in attendance elected Paris Gibson as its first president, the same man who would later lay out the plans for a city along the Missouri River, now called Great Falls. Gibson had come to the Montana territory to raise sheep on the rolling plains of the West.

On behalf of Montana sheep producers, the MWGA represents producer interests on the issues of federal land management, predatory animal control, imports of lamb and wool from foreign sheep producing countries, taxation, and land use planning. The association hosts an annual ram sale in Miles City the second Thursday after Labor Day in September and their annual convention in Billings the first weekend in December.

MWGA is affiliated with the American Sheep Industry Association (ASI), the national organization with offices in Centennial, Colorado and Washington, D.C. Montana is also associated with the work of the Sheep Institute at Montana State University. Among the projects leading increased sheep production is the use of sheep to graze noxious weeds such as leafy spurge and spotted knapweed. Sheep are proving to be a valuable tool in the war on weeds and environmentally friendly.

Membership is open to any Montana sheep producer with dues structured at four cents per pound of shorn wool.

Columbia

Description

Columbia was the first breed developed in the U.S. beginning in 1912 from Lincoln x Rambouillet crosses. Columbias are a hardy and gregarious breed that make good mothers. They are one of the larger size breeds in the U.S. and are increasingly used as terminal sires to produce fast-growing, lean market lambs. They have white faces with wool extending down the legs and yield heavy, medium-wool fleeces with good staple length.

Rambouillet

Description

Developed from the Spanish Merino in France and Germany, the Rambouillet is the foundation of most Western U.S. range flocks. White-faced with wool on the legs, the Rambouillet is largest of the fine wool breeds. This rugged animal is adaptable to a wide variety of arid range conditions and has a well-developed flocking instinct and is long-lived. The breed also has an extended breeding season and produces a high-quality fine-wool fleece.

Suffolk

Description

The Suffolk originated in England from Southdown x Norfolk crosses and was imported into the U.S. in 1888. This is the largest-sized breed in the U.S. which, along with rapid growth rate, makes it well adapted as a sire breed for production of crossbred slaughter lambs. The Suffolk has bare and black head and legs, is prolific, a good milker, and produces a medium-grade fleece. Suffolk lambs grow rapidly and produce high cutability carcasses.

NOTES

Targhee

Description

Developed in 1926 at the U.S. Sheep Experiment Station in Dubois, Idaho, the Targhee has 3/4 fine-wool and 1/4 longwool breeding from Rambouillet x Columbia and Rambouillet x Lincoln x Corriedale crosses. The Targhee is a medium-to large-sized, white-faced breed with wool on the legs and is adaptable to varied climate and forage conditions; they are predominately located in the intermountain and northern states. They herd well, produce good quality market lambs, and yield a heavy, medium-wool fleece with good staple length.
